

Intellect Design Arena Joins Bloomberg's Enterprise Solutions Partner Program

Treasury & Capital Markets Business applications offer the ability to integrate Bloomberg's financial data

Mumbai and Chennai (India), May 17, 2016: Intellect Design Arena Limited, (BSE: 538835 | NSE: INTELLECT), a specialist in applying true digital technologies across banking, insurance and capital markets, today announced that it has joined Bloomberg's Enterprise Solutions Partner program. The new partnership will enhance the Treasury & Capital markets businesses from Intellect's Risk and Treasury Markets division (iRTM). Bloomberg's Enterprise Solutions Partner program offers a unique opportunity for financial software and technology partners to meet the needs of the global financial services community.

With the program, Intellect will receive the tools and technical support to access Bloomberg's data distribution services and incorporate its analytics, reference data and market data. During development, Bloomberg will work with Intellect to facilitate integration of its applications and treasury and markets platform with high-quality Bloomberg data.

"We are excited about this partnership with Bloomberg. These trading solutions will help us serve our clients better. We work with over 46 customers globally that can now access Bloomberg's real-time data products, thereby enabling us to serve them better. Working with Bloomberg enables us to deliver seamless technology solutions that solve critical business challenges for our customers", said Mr. Venkatesh Srinivasan, CEO, Intellect Risk, Treasury & Capital Markets.

The Bloomberg Enterprise Solutions Partner Program- a group of more than 100 financial technology providers to the institutional marketplace-is a technology integration program developed by Bloomberg's Enterprise Solutions business to enable partners to go to market faster. Information about this program is available online at www.bloomberg.com/enterprise/distribution/enterprise-partners/.
